PHILIPS

What does WOOX Innovations offer?

One of the strongest opportunities to grow your business is to deliver more value to your established customer base. With strong expertise and a proven track record, our loyalty and incentive team can work with you to build your customer relationships and the value of your business.

WOOX Innovations is a start-up with a 122-year heritage: we're proud of our achievements as part of Philips, inventor of the compact cassette recorder, CD, DVD and Blu-ray. More recently in 2013, we were ranked one of Interbrand's Best Global Brands 100, recognizing our position as a leading global consumer electronics brand with an extensive portfolio of best-in-class lifestyle entertainment products. Recognized for great sound, innovative design and advanced technologies, Philips-branded products have won many prestigious innovation and design awards from around the world.

Philips products have a high perceived value, and with WOOX Innovations as loyalty and incentives partner, you will be able to obtain these products at significantly better value rates than the general market price. In many cases, products can also be customized to match your programs with co-branding or exclusive deals and even new product ideas. All products bought through this program are covered by a worldwide warranty and full logistical support.

To find out more about our loyalty and incentive program, contact loyalty.incentive@philips.com.

Internationally respected

Philips was ranked as one of Interbrand's Best Global Brands 100 in 2013, and we continue to deliver solutions that are technologically advanced and easy to use.

Design and acoustic engineering

The collaboration between product design team and acoustic specialists is crucial to ensuring the optimal balance of form and product performance. These teams are completely interdependent, working together to define new sound and design concepts and create the best listening and aesthetic experience.

Comprehensive product portfolio

We offer a comprehensive portfolio of high-quality lifestyle entertainment products that can meet the needs of many consumers in different segments. Our range spans home audio systems, portable speakers, wireless Hi-Fi, home cinema sound, headphones, app-enabled products and more.

World class logistics management

WOOX Innovations has a world class logistics management network that is able to handle order processing, transportation, warehousing, and distribution to facilities anywhere in the world. This logistics support can be tailored to your requirements.

Customization

Our lifestyle entertainment products can be customized to suit your loyalty and incentive program. Product and packaging customization can include co-branding, seasonal or event themes, exclusive deals and even new product ideas. We can also offer tailor-made by-pack leaflets, including compliment slips or thank you cards.

High perceived value

As a trusted global brand, Philips' products have a high perceived value, but as a loyalty and incentives partner, you will be able to obtain these products at significantly better value rates than the general market price.

Designed to win

We believe good product design is the creation of products and experiences that satisfy people's entertainment needs and make their lives more enjoyable. Through advanced technology and meaningful innovation, our product design team and acoustic experts collaborate closely to develop best-in-class products that delight our customers.

Every year, we win prizes, awards and accolades for everything from product design to sound quality, technical innovation to environmental awareness, from the world's largest and most prestigious design competitions. Our products frequently score 5-star ratings in a broad range of online and offline media, from industry heavyweights like T3, What Hi-Fi and trustedreviews.com to trendsetters and star-makers like Wired and CNet.com.

Obsessed with sound

We understand that if you truly love sound, every detail matters. Whether it's your favorite song or a movie soundtrack, you want to experience sound and all its nuances exactly as the artist intended. This is why our engineers have gone to great lengths to ensure that Fidelio products reproduce every sonic detail the way they were meant to be heard. Fidelio products faithfully reveal all the rich details of the original recording, so that every instrument, chord and note will resonate pristinely.

Building upon Philips' long heritage as a pioneer in sound innovation, the Fidelio range has been developed to continue the focus on authentic sound credentials and premium performance. It features a selection of leading edge, connected or wireless audio products designed to enable consumers to experience true and authentic sound. Above all, Fidelio stands for best-in-class sound quality, distinctive, contemporary design, and pleasurable ease of use. It is an obsession, and one that we are proud of.

Bring music to life anywhere you want

Music is the pulse of life, a beat that flows through each and every day. Philips offers an enormous range of audio solutions to satisfy your every musical demand. Lose yourself in a universe of sound indoors, outdoors, in your own home, at a party and anywhere else life takes you with the Philips range of audio systems.

Boasting wireless streaming over Bluetooth[®] or proprietary AirPlay technology, you can stream music from smartphones, tablets or any Bluetooth[®] equipped device to any Philips system quickly, easily and without sacrificing quality. To make things even easier, pop your smartphone into a docking speaker for instant playback. Using the smartphone docking clock radio, you can drift off to sleep and wake up to your favorite tunes. You can even bring your music with you wherever you go with a range of portable yet powerful battery operated speakers. Designed to be grab-and-go, they are simple, light and loud enough to power a party indoors or out.
